A DRG, or diagnostic related group, is how Medicare and some health insurance companies categorize hospitalization costs and determine how much to pay for your hospital stay.

Rather than pay the hospital for each specific service it provides, Medicare or private insurers pay a predetermined amount based on your Diagnostic Related Group.

A dorsal root ganglion (or spinal ganglion; also known as a posterior root ganglion) is a cluster of neurons (a ganglion) in a dorsal root of a spinal nerve. The cell bodies of sensory neurons known as first-order neurons are located in the dorsal root ganglia. The axons of dorsal root ganglion neurons are known as afferents.

The formula used to calculate payment for a specific case multiplies an individual hospital's payment rate per case by the weight of the DRG to which the case is assigned. Each DRG weight represents the average resources required to care for cases in that particular DRG, relative to the average resources used to treat cases in all DRGs.
