When Mama gets a new job and a new house, everyone is excited about moving except Jamela who likes her old house just fine.

Mama and Gogo are tremendously excited about the new house they are moving to, but Jamela likes where they are and doesn't want to go. She starts putting her books and school things into a box, but eventually gives up, packs herself away and goes off to sleep. And just when the big truck is about to drive off, Mama suddenly shouts, "Wait, wait! Where's Jamela?" Mrs Zibi, Greasy Hands and even Christmas the chicken make an appearance in this delightful new African township story in which Jamela finally discovers that there's no place like home.

Children can capture the feel of the South African townships in another of Jamela's adventures. When Jamela sees the intricate fabric for Thelma's wedding dress, she can't resist wrapping it around her and dancing. Things go wrong, but a happy ending comes just in time for Thelma's wedding.

It's nearly Jamela's birthday, and she longs for the sparkly Princess Shoes she's seen in the shoe shop.

It is summer vacation and Jamela is bored, until her Aunt Beauty asks her to come and help her get her hair salon ready for a special client, who turns out to be "Afro-Idols" contestant Miss Bambi Chaka Chaka.

When Mama plans to cook chicken for Christmas dinner, she gives Jamela the task of fattening it up. But Jamela becomes fond of the bird, and on Christmas Eve she sets off with the chicken under her arm, leaving a chaotic trail behind her.

In this version of "Little Red Riding Hood," set in Ghana, a young girl fails to heed Granny's warning about the dangers of talking to strangers.

Ruby's loud voice annoys everyone around her, until she learns to control her volume with the help of her new jazz musician friends.

A girl, a potato, and a very sad flamingo star in this charming sequel to I'm Bored by New York Times bestselling author and comedian Michael Ian Black and celebrated illustrator Debbie Ridpath Ohi. Everyone feels sad sometimes—even flamingos. Sigh. When Flamingo announces he's feeling down, the little girl and Potato try to cheer him up, but nothing seems to work. Not even dirt! (Which usually works for Potato.) Flamingo learns that he will not always feel this way. And his friends learn that sometimes being a friend means you don't have to cheer someone up. You just have to stick by your pal no matter how they feel. Even if they're a potato.

While doing a good job of caring for his grandfather's sheep and goats on the grasslands of South Africa, young Malusi dreams of everything from owning his own dog to becoming president one day.
