Why I Am Not a Christian is an essay by the British philosopher Bertrand Russell. Originally a talk given 6 March 1927 at Battersea Town Hall, under the auspices of the South London Branch of the National Secular Society, it was published that year as a pamphlet and has been republished several times in English and in translation.

Why I Am Not a Painter - I am not a painter, I am a poet. Now that our hero has come back to us in his white pants and we know his nose trembling like a flag under fire, we see the calm cold river is supporting our forces, the beautiful history.

Why I Am Not a Painter is one of my favourite Frank O'Hara poems. He wrote it after a series of visits to his friend Michael Goldberg, the American abstract expressionist painter. Like many have done so before and since O'Hara grapples with the idea of the many forms of expression open to the human creative spirit.

Last week I began a new series titled "Why I Am Not..." and in this series I am exploring some of the things I do not believe as a means to explaining what I do believe. In the last article I explained why I am not atheist and now want to explain why I am not Roman Catholic. The timing of this article is unplanned but rather appropriate. I publish today from Orlando, Florida where I am ...

1. At a time when most movements that are thought to be progressive advocate further encroachments on individual liberty, those who cherish freedom are likely to expend their energies in opposition. In this they find themselves much of the time on the same side as those who habitually resist change.

For the past few weeks I have been taking a day a week to tell how I have arrived at my various theological convictions. I've done this by telling you why I am not what I am not: I am not atheist, Roman Catholic, liberal, or Arminian. Today I want to tell you why I am not paedobaptist. But first, of course, definitions are in order. While all Protestants affirm the necessity of baptism ...
